

Winner of the 2016 Comp Laude™ Award for Plaintiff Attorney: Richard Rubenstein.

According to one of his nominators, Richard Rubenstein is the “dean” of New Jersey Workers’ Compensation. He is the attorney that the younger attorneys in the industry go to for guidance and advice.

Known in the industry as hard working, conscientious, and deeply concerned about the best-interests of his client and the system, overall. He is always available to talk, and legitimately enjoys untangling complicated New Jersey Worker’s Compensation claims.

Professional Bio:

Partner at Rothenberg, Rubenstein, Berliner & Shinrod, LLC

Certified by the Supreme Court of New Jersey as a Workers Compensation Trial Attorney, Richard frequently writes and lectures on the subject of work comp. He has practiced in the area of workers compensation since 1985, representing both Petitioners and Respondents in every Court in New Jersey. He is a Vice President to the Council on Safety and Health of NJ, the James Coleman Inns of Court as well as dedicating significant time and contributions to Kids Chance of New Jersey.

On receiving the Comp Laude Award, Mr. Rubenstein says, “I am proud to represent working people, helping families recover from unforeseen tragedy, injury and illness, and see their way through life’s greatest challenges.”
